CONTRASTED PICTURES.

Senator Stewart made a raid on the Force bill, the pet scheme of President Harrison to make the bayonet to take place of the ballot in the South. Bartine voted for the bill.

Stewart was obliged to make this fight to gain friends for silver in the Senate. His course was a wise one and he passed the silver bill in the Senate on this trade.

Bartine chose to stick by his old party and vote for a bad party measure rather than be at odds with the administration.

Thus he was not able to pass the bill in the House.

The APPEAL believes that had Bartine adopted the same course as Stewart his efforts would have been attended by the same happy results.

Stewart traded with the South and got the votes he needed to pass the silver bill. Bartine pursued the opposite course and the bill passed by Stewart in the Senate was lost in the House.

These facts are matters of history. Now Stewart asks for a reelection at the hands of the silver men of Nevada and points to his Senate record, and Bartine with his record of failure in the House asks the voters of Nevada to cast Stewart aside—the man who succeeded—and supplant him with himself—the man who failed.

THE SILVER TICKET.

The Tuscarora Times Review, which left the Harrison party because of its opposition to the principal industry of the State, flies the full silver ticket at the head of its editorial column and introduces it to its readers as follows:

"The Silver Party ticket at the head of this column is a good one, composed of straight-out free coinage men from top to bottom, and it would show a lack of judgment for the people of Nevada to defeat a single candidate on it. Stewart and Newlands should be our standard bearers in the silver fight. They have done good work and deserve the honor of being sent to Washington to represent us. They are against Harrison and his views of the silver question, and are not afraid to say so. They desire to be placed in an independent position wherein they can do more good for our cause. They are both fighters and will bring home scalps, and Nevada will be proud of them. With them in Washington no State in the Union will be more ably represented than Nevada."

Eight Republican newspapers in Idaho have abandoned Harrison since his letter of acceptance was published and now advocate the election of Weaver. They place State prosperity above Republican success.

The State Central Committee of the Silver Party will have engraved on a silver brick the result of Nevada's vote for President and put it on exhibition at the Columbia exposition.

The Editor's Fee.

A child is born, the physicians officiating receives his fee; the editor writes up the event and gets 0. The child reaches manhood and is married, the minister receives his fee; the editor writes up another event and gets 00. Time passes on; the undertaker officiates, receives his fee; the editor writes up another event and gets 000.
